2017 Update
• Dianne Wachtendorf, Children’s Services Coordinator, is now on board, and plans are in place to do a lot of innovative programming in children’s services.
• Every branch will do an interactive fun fair to kick off this year’s Summer Reading Program.
• Outreach efforts will now include “popup story times” for local businesses, such as coffee shops and car dealers. This will enhance the visibility of libraries in new areas.
• All library children’s areas are receiving facelifts, starting with interactive wall toy installations during the first quarter of 2017.
• Through a block party grant from the State, there will be massive amounts of blocks at each library to help children learn and develop through block play.
• BCFL is participating in a free meal service for children during the summer months at both the Levittown and Bensalem branches.
• Planning continues for implementation of a bookmobile service.
• Plans are in place to expand the Help Desk project to include more offsite programming.
• PA libraries are involved in an effort called ScanPA to encourage community members to bring historic photos to their libraries for digitization. Chris Snyder will oversee designated staff in hosting ScanPA events and make sure that the photos go into state and national historic photo archives.
• Library consultants are currently visiting BCFL libraries and the Collection Management Department to review workflows and see if there are improvements they can recommend.
• BCFL’s web design is under review. Look for new ways for information to be displayed in the first half of the year.
• With the purchase of a new Sirsi product called Blue Cloud Analytics, we’ll be able to have more specific and powerful statistics. Examples include what time of the day is most popular for checkouts, what kinds of materials are currently circulating.
• RFID implementation – many libraries are currently using this technology for more efficient operations. Research and recommendations will be completed soon.
• In Facilities the Levittown branch is getting a facelift, increasing the size of the children’s area and adding more mobile shelving. The Levittown Friends have donated funds that will help fund some of these improvements. At the Bensalem branch mobilization is almost complete. There are plans underway for Froggy’s Garden, an outdoor area at the Doylestown Library, to implement design ideas obtained from a consultant through funding of a recent grant. The design elements will incorporate learning into different areas of the outdoor space.
• For staff development the biggest area for improvement is training. The goal in 2017 is to have a life cycle set of training for every job classification, including orientation, first year, advanced and core items.
