Application of Standards

Every staff member is a representative of the Bucks County Free Library and is responsible for upholding our Customer Service Standards.

In applying these standards, staff members will be service-oriented, values driven, responsible, courteous, informed, and empowered. Staff will engage with others in a friendly, helpful, and positive manner. This applies even in difficult situations when they must enforce policies or deliver unwelcome news.

All interactions and transactions with patrons will be considered confidential and discussed only in a professional context.

Policies will be applied consistently.

By taking initiative and following through with meeting user needs, staff will aim to ensure that each library user leaves the library feeling that every attempt has been made to fully assist them. When a staff member is unable to comply with a request, they will attempt to offer an alternative or referral whenever possible.

Commitment to Supporting Outstanding Customer Service

Bucks County Free Library administration supports the customer service standards by:

- Recruiting and hiring customer service minded individuals
- Maintaining safe and welcoming environment
- Modeling the customer service standards
- Providing continuing education training and staff development opportunities
